Dear Mr. Spitzer:

I am in receipt of your email sent March 24, 2005 regarding the Pinellas County Charter Review Commission MGT Efficiency Study. Although the City of Belleair Beach, FL is not a direct participant in this endeavor, I do appreciate being given the opportunity to express some thoughts. I understand the cost of the MGT Study will be in the neighborhood of $150,000. It seems to me that a RFP process should be issued for this undertaking and each proposer should identify the methodology and approach they would use to provide the CRC with the types of information it is seeking. I would suspect that the previous MGT Efficiency Study, first undertaken approximately 13 years ago and therefore representing a picture of conditions that existed at that moment in time, would probably have insufficient value other than historical interest, to justify waiving the competitive negotiations process. Finally, there would appear to be issues with the potential for impacting City operations. Therefore, a clearer role for obtaining input from the various city managers/administrators needs to be identified.

Sincerely,

Rudy Davis, Mayor
